DEATH OF MRS. McCANDLESS

And at evening time there shall be light."

Entered into life on the evening of February 12, 1922, Emma Marion, second daughter of the late Henry Hamlin and Hannah McCoy Hamlin his wife, and wife of the Rev. Dr. J. H. McCandless.

The death of Mrs. McCandless, though not altogether unexpected, came suddenly and was a shock to the entire community.

Emma Marion Hamlin was born in Smethport, December 26, 1858, and this place has always been her home.

Mrs. McCandless had been a woman whose rare personality was enhanced by unusual and winning charm, to which was added the culture and poise of intelligence, study and contact with other well trained minds.

Her love of nature has ever been sweet and unaffected, loving them, all the birds, the flowers, the trees, the clouds, and her mountain home as food for a lesson and a call to reverent worship.

She has many warm friends who love her devotedly and it is true of her, that those who love her best are those who know her best.

She has suffered all her life with pain, and weakness which has not however destroyed her love of living nor her desire for usefulness.

She has been much interested in the franchise for women and was enlisted in several movements to assist women to use this privilege intelligently. She is a daughter of the American Revolution and is a charter member of the Travelers Club. She is a life long member of St. Luke's church, from which place of worship she will be laid to rest, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The death of Mrs. Emma Hamlin McCandless occurred, due to heart failure following an operation performed three weeks ago.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Hannah Hamlin; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Ross, Binghamton, N. Y. and Mrs. Eugenia Merrill, Smethport; a brother, Orlo J. Hamlin, Smethport, and three nieces, The Misses Mirabel, Hannah and Susan Hamlin of Smethport.

MRS. ANN GALLUP.

The death of Mrs. Ann Gallup, widow of the late Nathaniel G Gallup, occurred at the family residence in Colegrove, Sunday February 5th, from complications incidental to old age. Ann Evans, a daughter of John and Sallie Evans, was born at Annin Creek, November 9th, 1846. The parents moved to the Potato Creek Valley when she was eight years of age. She was united in marriage with N. C. Gallup, February 17, 1870 and started married life on the same farm that her death occurred on. She is survived by one son Edward L. Gallup at home, one daughter, Mrs. Orlo L. Bard of Eulma, and three brothers and three sisters: Henry of Olean, Charles of Chicago and Orrin Evans of Bolls Run, Pa. Mrs. Malvina Carter, of Emporium, Mrs. Fidelia Smith, of Crosby and Mrs. Lillian Richards of Olean.

The funeral services were held at the Union Church, Colegrove, Rev. Arthur Gregson, officiating and interment in the family plot in the Colegrove Cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, a silent testimony of her worth from loving relatives and friends.

The Rebekah Lodge will have a George Washington Party, after their business meeting Wednesday evening February 22, for Rebekahs only.

HOME AND SCHOOL VISITOR TO ISSUE UNUSUAL NUMBER

The Home and School Visitor, a county schools publication issued by Superintendent C. W. Lillibridge will be printed in the Miner printing office within the coming week.

In addition to the regular school news, the McKean County Farm Bureau will give its annual report in this book, so that the number will be intensely interesting.

Also, instead of the regular edition which numbers 1500, there is to be printed this month a total of 2500, including the number to be used by the County Superintendent the Farm Bureau, and one of the advertisers.

Illustrations in number, and of recent experiments and trophies won by the Farm Bureau will also lend additional value to the issue.

NEW LIGHT ON ELECTRICITY

Electricity for Smethport may now be procured without the aid of a trunk line company if the Keystone Electric Company can be prevailed upon to build an electric line to Hazelhurst with the understanding that the Smethport borough would then build a line from that point and become subscribers for current.

The Keystone company supplies at present Ridgway, Kane and Mt. Jewett, and with a large numbers of users of electricity at Hazelhurst would no doubt find it extremely profitable to extend its activities to Hazelhurst and sell current there. This would absolutely settle the argument as to whether it would be more economical to get current from the Portville plant or from the Keystone company.

Never before since active discussion in favor of getting current here was first heard has the chances for the town to realize its dream seemed so bright.

A line from Smethport to Hazelhurst will require but about ten miles of line construction, in the event the Keystone company decides to build to that point, as against twenty-eight to Portville. With the $15,000 which the county Commissioners are expected to advance and the money available to use by the borough council, the borough would have ample funds to go ahead with a line to Hazelhurst without the most remote possibility of objection from any one.

The accident occurred on a dump beside the railroad tracks near his home. He and a companion were sliding on the ice, and in their play the Jones lad slipped.

He is confined to his home, unable to walk. Dr. Hamilton is attending him.

CONG. JONES TO SPEAK HERE

Congressman, E. J. Jones, who has just announced his candidacy for re-election by the Republicans of this district, will address the meeting of the McKean County Farm Bureau at the Court house on March 3.

The address will deal with "Agricultural Legislation," which is a topic of interest at present, owing to the "Agricultural bloc" discussion.

Mr. A. A. Boreland, of the State College, a leading authority on dairy subjects, will speak on "Dairy Industry of Today." Mr. Boreland is a national figure along this line, and the combination of Congressman Jones and himself will no doubt draw an audience to the meeting from every section of the county.

At the business meeting proposed changes in the Farm Bureau constitution will be voted upon.

One of the principal changes likely to be effected is that of electing officers through the Board of Directors rather than by direct vote. This means that the members will pick seven directors, who in turn will name the officers.

In a letter to the Miner received several days ago, Congressman Jones in announcing his candidacy to McKean County voters, says:

Feb. 7, 1922.

Editor, McKean County Miner,
Smethport, Penna.

My Dear Editor:—

I am enclosing herewith an announcement of my candidacy for renomination to Congress, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in May.

Firmly convinced that irrespective of capacity for work or ability for service, our Congressional district will not get its maximum service until someone represents it more than two terms, and with that thought in view, I have concluded to give the voters of the district an opportunity of determining that question. If my service has been satisfactory during the first two terms, I feel justified in submitting my name for their further consideration. If it has not, then I humbly submit to their choice and will give every support and the benefit of my experience to the one who succeeds me.

I observe, however, with considerable interest, in a number of papers and through letters that have been sent to me, that the rotation system is urged to be continued and that under this system it is Clearfield's turn. Assuming there is merit in the appeal, the statement is wrong. It would be Cameron County's turn. And, if the rule is a sound one, it applies with equal force to small counties as well as to large ones. I can assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that during my service as your representative in Congress, I have drawn neither county lines nor party in my efforts to serve the people.

Yours truly,
E. J. Jones.

FORGER GETS $12.80 FROM H. C. WELLS DRUG STORE

Through a clever check forgery, Mr. H. C. Wells, druggist, is just $12.80 short.

A man, who said he was Claude Davis," a seemingly familiar name in this section entered the store and and asked the clerk to cash a check.

The check was made payable to "Claude Davis", in correct form on the Hamlin Bank & Trust Company, and signed by "J. S. Kingsley." It was endorsed by the former name.

Later, Mr. Wells was notified that the bank knew nothing of such persons corresponding to the names on the checks, nor has the local postoffice any knowledge of them.

Other merchants should be wary of a repetition of a forgery.

MRS. OSTRANDER BREAKS ARM

Mrs. W. A. Ostrander fell on the ice on Main street last Thursday evening and fractured her right wrist.

Besides this injury she was badly shaken and bruised.

Her husband, Dr. Ostrander, was summoned from the Bradford hospital, where he had just arrived with a patient to be operated upon.

He immediately came back to Smethport, and took Mrs. Ostrander to the Bradford Hospital, where the bone was set.

Mrs. Ostrander is now at home resting comfortably.

SEVEN NEW CITIZENS— FORTY-THREE NEW AMERICANS.

Seven applicants for citizenship papers at the Court house during the past week admitted the parentage of a grand total of forty-three children.

This is an average of a little better than six each, which ought to be sufficient justification for citizenship.

One of the applicants was the father of six when called in the first draft during the late war.

TWO BASKETBALL GAMES.

The Hazelhurst H. S. basketball team was defeated by the Nameless Five at the Lyceum on Friday evening, the score being 16 to 36, and the I. H. C. of Smethport won over the Hazelhurst Eighth Grade by a score of 20 to 26.

SUGGEST ELECTRIC PUMP FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Relative to the suggestion made before the Borough Council last week to house the steam fire pump in a building alongside the mill pond so as to be attached to the stand pipe immediately in case of fire an idea, going a step further, has come to light.

The new idea is that of installing an electric pump at the mill dam with a switch connected to the pump from the hose house. This electric pump would be switched on at the same time the fire alarm was sounded, and would immediately begin pumping water into a hose line out of the stream.

Of course, this entire proposition depends upon securing electricity for Smethport, but the parties suggesting the plan are absolutely certain current will soon be here, and will likely take their plan before the Borough Council shortly.

The cost of the pump and a motor would be nominal, they say, the upkeep would be nothing at all, and the pump would always be ready for immediate action.

BREAKS AFFLICTED LEG FOR THIRD TIME.

William Glavin, who has been forced to use crutches for many months and who had fondly hoped to be able to discard them in the coming months, slipped last Saturday morning and broke his leg which has been afflicted for some years, and which has been fractured in accidents two times before.

Mr. Glavin was making his way to Main street, from his home, and one of his crutches failed to hold on the ice. He was thrown heavily to the ground. Several neighbors carried him to his home. Dr. Ostrander was called. The injury is healing nicely although the patient is in great pain.

CANDY SALE AT SCHOOL

A sale of candy took place at the Smethport High School last week, during which time the children took advantage of the nearness of sweets, and heavy proceeds resulted.

The candy was sold to purchase educational magic lantern slides for use in school work.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY COMMEMORATED IN VARIOUS WAYS

The Grange National Bank and the Hamlin Bank & Trust Company closed on Monday in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday and other events commemorated the great American.

Children from the local schools were entertained by the officials of the Hamlin Bank, and shown throughout the institution's new quarters.

A prize was offered to the writer of the most complete description of the bank's equipment. One dollar as the beginning of a bank account is the prize.

The youngsters were given a chance to ask all the questions they wished, and among the things which caused widened eyes was the sight of $35,000 in gold currency.

TWO CLERGYMEN IN JAIL

At present, rated according to business, the clergy seems to have the largest representation at the county jail.

The Rev. George Smock of Degolia, who is at present pastor of the United Brethren church of that place, is doing five days in the jail because he refused to pay a fine of $2 and costs.

The other is a colored minister from Kane charged with arson. There are 12 other prisoners.

The Rev. Mr. Smock is a conscientious objector to compulsory vaccination, it is said.

As he did not have his two children vaccinated, and accordingly the children could not attend school, the father was arrested for violating the school law, which provides that children must attend school. A second law, however, states that children must be vaccinated before attending school, and there comes the twist. The clergyman was arrested for not having his children in school, thus violating the school law.

He said he did not wish to break the law, but believed he was right.

FIDELMAN ROOM FOR GOVERNORSHIP ANNOUNCED

Harrisburg, Feb. 15.—Lieut. Gov. Edward E. Fidelman this afternoon during a meeting of the Dauphin County Republican committee, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

AUGUST ASCONE ARRESTED WITH STILL IN HOME.

Bradford, Pa., February 14, 1922

During a raid by game wardens in search of concealed weapons, at the home of August Ascone, No. 18 River street, yesterday, a large still and five barrels of mash were discovered. Ascone was promptly arrested on a charge of violating the Wonser act, arraigned before Alderman Williams, and held to court in $1,000 bail. Ascone, who is an alien, also was fined $25 on a charge of illegal possession of firearms, two German Luger pistols and a Smith and Wesson revolver being found in his house.

The raid was conducted by District Game Warden T. K. Hogarth and County Game Warden Carl Benson, assisted by members of the local police department. Ascone's home is alleged to have been the scene of the fatal shooting of Dominic Minutolo about a week ago, and one of the Luger pistols is supposed to be the weapon with which Minutolo was said to have accidently to have shot himself.

Both Luger were in a drawer of a dresser in Ascone's bedroom. The Smith and Wesson was under his pillow. As he is an alien possession of the weapons constituted a violation of the state law. In addition to levying the $25 fine, Alderman Williams ordered confiscation of the three pistols.

Presence of the still in Ascone's home lends further color to the police theory of the accidental shooting of Minutolo in that house, as it would furnish the motive for Minutolo's companion's action in carrying him out to the sidewalk, instead of summoning a physician or the police.

FIRE SHOWS TRUCK NEED

Fire in the United Brethren Church last Sunday afternoon was extinguished after the flames had eaten a large hole in the floor of the of the building and other damage done by smoke and water.

The Smethport Fire Department answered the telephone call for help and the result was that the need for quick transportation of the two chemical wagons was clearly demonstrated. The volunteers who started pulling the wagons soon sought the aid of passing autos, and then the wagons were rapidly conveyed to the scene.

As a result of this demonstrated need for two motor trucks for use by the local fire department, Messrs James Quirk and Frank Hackett went to Buffalo the next day and purchased two machines.

They are to be equipped with solid tires, so as to be always ready for action and are expected to arrive here within a week, and be placed into immediate service in the hose house.

This action is the outcome of a decision on the part of the fire department to collect money by subscription to buy the needed machines.

Those in charge of collecting the money have in hand more than enough for the purchase of one machine, and sufficient subscribed to easily take care of paying for the other.

The cars are being brought here by rail, owing to the heavy snows of the past week, which made it impossible to drive them here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stull, who live near the church, saw the smoke issuing from the building, and the other neighbors and themselves began throwing buckets of water on the burning floor despite the terrific amount of smoke which almost drove them back.

Autos began arriving from Smethport, and with this additional help from firemen and others, the flames were extinguished.

Rev. A. L. Pang and the church directors held a meeting shortly afterward, and decided to make repairs immediately.

HARRIS BIBLE CLASS HOLDS NEWSPAPER REVIEW

About sixty members and friends of the L. V. Harris Bible class attended the monthly meeting in the Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening. After the business meeting, a newspaper, Class Review, Volume 1, No. 1, was read by the following contributors, Mrs. Clair White being the editor:

The contributions were excellent containing much that was funny and some that was serious. A quartet composed of Mrs. Fred Hallstrom, Mrs. Victor Hallstrom and the Misses Ellen and Anna Hallstrom sang several pleasing selections and dainty refreshments were served by the committee.

CONOPUS CLUB MEETING.

A. S. Brown, international secretary of the Conopus Club, was the guest of the Smethport Conopus Club last Monday.

He told the local members that hereafter initiation fees would not have to be paid into the national treasury, but could be kept for local use.

J. C. Backus spoke on the new method of obtaining electricity for Smethport, telling of the saving on the Mt. Jewett route, and dwelling upon the various costs of construction and materials.

The club members were favorably impressed with the new plan as a better and cheaper one than the Portville plan.

BIG RAID ON BRADFORD DOPE SELLERS AND USERS

Warren, Pa., February 14.— A wholesale raid of dope addicts and sellers was made in Bradford yesterday when eight men and six women were placed under arrest by federal officers, assisted by the Bradford police.

The warrants were served on Dr. H. A. Canfield, Dr. L. D. Joseph, O. S. Carlson and Norbert Johnston, the two latter being druggists; and upon Grace Davis, Bert Huggins, Harry Orcutt, Harry Jifkins, Nellie Haines, Medina Burke, Fanny Bernard, Otto Jones and Mary Lenhart.

Nine of the suspected persons, the five women and four of the men were brought to this city Monday night and given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner C. M. Shawkey and were held under $1000 bail each for a hearing before Commissioner Shawkey at 10 o'clock a. m. Thursday, February 16th. In default of bail the ten alleged dope addicts were committed to the care of Sheriff W. W. Muir in the Warren County jail. It is probable that all of the accused will be able to furnish bail today for their release.

The charge against the dope addicts is for conspiracy in the violation of the Act of Congress of December 17, 1914, as amended by the Revenue Act of 1918, especially the purchase of the dope in the form of morphine from two physicians and druggists of Bradford, who were also placed under arrest yesterday, charged with selling the dope.

The two physicians and the two druggists were brought to this city this morning and their bail was fixed by Commissioner Shawkey at $2,500. Their hearing was fixed for Monday, February 20.

BRADFORD OIL MAN HAS A PROFITABLE EXPERIENCE

Bradford, Pa., February 14, 1922

It has been some time since oil producers in the Bradford fields have experienced the thrill of one of the old time gushers, but that experience is being enjoyed by George W. Moore, a prominent oil producer, who has brought in a well that at the rate it is at present flowing is worth over $28,000 a month. Of course, sometimes these phenomenal starts of wells do not keep up such a big gait for a long time, but during the time they are pouring forth "the flowing gold" they more than make good for the slowing up period later on.

Mr. Moore brought in a well on his farm property one-half mile from the Marshburg road, on Thursday, and the flow was so great that he did not have adequate tankage for it and had to shut in until yesterday when he had tankage provided, for the gusher which started off again at between 12 and 13 barrels an hour and is still doing the same.

ELDRED TO VOTE ON TOWN HALL PROPOSITION

The proposition to purchase the Bebout property by the Borough for use as a City Building will be voted upon next Tuesday, from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. This property is centrally located on the corner of Main and King streets on lot 90 feet front on King street and 54 feet on Main the building being of solid brick construction, 42x60 feet.

It has conservatively estimated that the present town hall will salvage for enough to put the Bebout building in first class condition for Borough purposes. This move by the progressive people of Eldred will have nothing to do with the present assessed valuation, and the tax necessary to levy will in all probability be less than the three per cent asked to be authorized.

A responsible contractor has estimated that the cost of putting the present building into shape for a council chamber, fire station, etc., will not exceed $700.

OLEAN WAGON MANUFACTURING PLANT AFIRE

Olean, Feb. 13.—Damage estimated at $200,000 was wrought tonight by fire which destroyed the plant of the Conklin Wagon Works on East State street. The factory building a three-story wooden structure, was destroyed with all its contents.

The blaze broke out at 6.10 o'clock and lighted up the countryside for miles around. Because of the proximity of a large number of dwelling houses, there was grave danger, for a time, of the blaze spreading through a considerable portion of the city. Vigorous and efficient work on the part of the fire department under the supervision of Chief L. G. Rogers, however kept the flames confined to the factory building.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined. It is estimated that the greater part of the loss is covred by insurance.

NEGRO MINISTER HELD FOR COURT IN ARSON CASE.

Kane, Feb. 10.—G. W. Lee, negro minister, formerly of Kane, who was arrested in Lock Haven Tuesday by officers in that place on a warrant issued by McKean county authorities at the behest of the State Fire Marshall, charging arson, was brought to this city yesterday afternoon by County Detective J. J. Allison.

The defendant was given a hearing on the charge before Justice of the Peace Emil Stenger at his office yesterday afternoon. Lee is charged with having caused a fire which badly damaged the dwelling house occupied by himself and family in order to secure the insurance which he had placed on building and contents. The house is 629 Park avenue.

OVER $5,000 PLEDGED FOR AMERICAN JEWISH RELIEF.

Bradford, Feb. 13.—The sum of $5,320 was pledged to the American Jewish Relief Fund by Bradford residents after a mass meeting in the Grand Theater yesterday afternoon. About 250 persons attended the meeting and heard Dr. Max Blumer and Dr. Ludvig Bernstein give vivid and heart-rending description of the plight of millions of Jews in Europe. Doctors Blumer and Bernstein recently returned from overseas and accordingly spoke from first-hand observations.

Louis J. Krohnson, chairman of the McKean County Jewish Relief Committee, presided. Motion picture showing phases of the pitiable condition described by the speakers were exhibited between the addresses. After Drs. Blumer and Bernstein had spoken, Mrs. Nathaniel E. Harris made an earnest plea for a fitting and generous response by the people of Bradford.

Dr. Blumer was introduced by Chairman Krohnson as the first speaker. As a member of Herbert Hoover's relief committee and the American Joint Distribution Committee, Dr. Blumer spent some months in the Ukraine. In the course of his remarks yesterday, he related some of the horrors which he and a colleague, "Jimmie" Becker, had witnessed in that stricken land.

SECRETARY DENBY WANTS TO SAVE $70,000,000; YEA! BO

Washington, Feb. 13.—Reductions in the personnel and strength of the Navy to effect a savings of $70,000,000 in the budget for the next fiscal year was recommended to the House Naval Affairs Committee today by Secretary of the Navy Denby. He urged that appropriations be made to maintain an enlisted personnel of 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentices, a decrease of 10,000 under the present strength.

Because of lack of appropriations Secretary Denby told the committee, hundreds of destroyers would have to be placed out of commission. He favored the graduation of all members of the first class at Annapolis Naval Academy, but also recommended that further appointments to Annapolis be cut down five to three for each member of Congress.

CARLTON DRUG STORE IN BRADFORD ROBBED.

Bradford, Feb. 1.—Thursday night robbers entered O. S. Carlton's drug store at the corner of Main and High streets, and were successful in securing money from the cash register of the drug store and from the cash drawer used in connection with the United States postoffice sub-station located in the drug store. It is believed that the thieves were frightened away by some outside noise for they left without touching the whiskey that is kept for prescription purposes, or any of the other merchandise which surrounded them on all sides. They also neglected to get the money in the cash drawer at the cigar counter so that their visit must have been of short duration.

The visitors entered the drug store by means of the back door of the establishment which had been left unlocked, accidentally. This unlocked door made entrance easy and the thieves would probably have had a great time filling their pockets with valuables had they not evidently been scared from the premises. As it was they removed $4.75 from the store's cash drawer and $3 from the substation drawer. An examination of the goods showed that nothing else had been taken.

Mr. Carlson notified the police of the robbery, but there is no clue so far.

PLEA FOR ACTION BY PENNSYLVANIA WOMEN HEAD.

Statement by Mrs. John O. Miller, chairman of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters:

"I feel that I would fail in an obvious duty, as chairman of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, which includes members of all parties, if, in these times and in these unprecedented political circumstances, I did not direct attention to the supreme importance of the approaching primaries. If ever there was a time when every thinking, independent man and woman voter in Pennsylvania should be registered and fully qualified to vote in the party primaries, this is the time.

For Pennsylvania is about to enter on a new, an entirely new political era. The result of the May Primaries will determine, to a large extent, the leadership of both the Republican and Democratic Parties. The great and ruling problem which must be solved is to see to it that this leadership is alert, progressive, honest, sincere and wholly devoted to the welfare of the people and the state.

By reason of certain important changes in the Republican state organization, for example, the leadership in that organization is at stake: is it to be controlled by sinister and selfish influence? Shall it be controlled by elements which will seek also to have a hand in the control of the Democratic Party organization?

There is only one answer to these questions. Independent men and women voters must vote this year to their fullest strength. They can, by so doing, make certain that the party machinery will be in proper candidate are nominated. And if hands and that the right kind of they do this, they will insure that Pennsylvania for years to come will be saved from the present designs of selfish, sinister and reactionary influences.

Just reflect for a moment on the important questions which will come up in the primaries! Two United States Senators, a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, the whole membership of the State House, one half of the membership of the State Senate and a Congressman from every district, are to be nominated. In addition, the state committeemen are to be elected. The nomination means control of the political and and election of these candidates administrative course of the state, of a new political epoch. Voters of Pennsylvania are at the threshold The state should be alive to the situation and not allow their franchises to be stolen by bosses who will stop at nothing to win the biggest political prizes in a generation. You are warned of the perils! Register and vote for independence in the primaries of May 16.

IMPROVED ROAD, N. Y. STATE TO WASHINGTON.

Olean, Feb. 14. Olean's importance as a trade center will be greatly increased with the completion of the highway building programs of New York and Pennsylvania state in the section. Considerable territory in Pennsylvania will be opened to this by the proposed highways.

New York state and Cattaraugus county will improve the stretch between Portville and Ceres, the latter on the state line, and Pennsylvania will build from Eldred, in McKean county, to the line. The work in this state will be started in the spring. The Cataraugus county board of supervisors, having taken favorable action, announced that the contract will be let this month. McKean county, through the Pennsylvania State Highway department, will receive bids to February 28, and work in the road in that state will be started within 30 days after the letting of the contract.

The improved stretches will connect two state highways. Olean, on the New York state road, is connected with Portville by improved highways. Pennsylvania will have improved road to New York city, and this state will have one to Washington, D. C.

DEFLATION VS. INFLATION.

At present there is an untiring, internal industrial war being waged that threatens the safety and progress of the nation.

It is the fight of deflation against inflation, or, as usual progressiveness against conservativeness, or foresightedness against shortsightedness, or any way one looks at it. It is an age-old struggle, nevertheless.

The prices of many articles of purchase have been reduced, and no one knows this better than the clothing dealer, and also the grocer to a certain extent. But there is a wicked amount of purchases one makes for which he pays an inflated price which existed during the recent period when all was inflation.

Inflated prices in apparently deflated times.

Usually this is true because the wholesaler knows that if he keeps his prices boosted, the retailer must do likewise, and at the same deal direct the wholesaler rakes in the with the irate public, while big profits and blames the retailer.

The real truth o fthe matter is that the retailer wishes to reduce his prices, but cannot. It is he who has to discuss with his customers why the articles he sells do not return to something like their former costs, and he knows he could sell more goods if the prices were lower.

One of the principal offenders of foisting inflation upon the public now when everything should tend to a normal level, is the railroad man—or rather the railroads.

The high freight rates is one of the favorite excuses of the man who could but does not lower the costs of his commodity. In some cases, however this plea may be justifiable. For certainly the rates are altogether out of sight. Business which honestly would be affected by the high freight charges waits for reductions, and meanwhile the hoped for normalcy remains just around the corner. Bread lines appear, and good men have no means of a living—at least an honest one.

So the foresighted business man is dropping his prices to an absolute rock-bottom level knowing that the public is waiting for him to do so before buying and knowing that he will bring himself more sales, and an increase in ready cash and quicker profits.

OUT OF THE GRAVE.

After the hatchet had been buried good and deep in the old sod of Erin and the glad hand extended to the British, and the good old scrap for a free Ireland had been laid away in lavendar, some one up and throws a monkey-wrench into the peace-making machinery, and the ghost of ancient warfare is resurrected in the little new republic that seems so inclined toward an absolute peace, but which apparently has not reached a position of stability to yet force its enemies to desist.

Some rumors direct against de Valera the finger of suspicion for having started the present trouble, which is now resulting in killing and wounding many persons in street engagements.

David Collins, whose rugged manner, backed by the provisional army of the new republic and the friendship of England, should be able to quell the new uprisings.

THE BONUS AGAIN.

The only remaining question to be decided now concerning the soldiers' bonus is not where to get the money, —but how.

One lawmaker says we have not the wherewithall to pay the ex-service men what is surely theirs by all the laws of justice, and another says we can do it if we tax certain arcles and bring it about. Other some object to the tax.

But eliminating all but the ones who say it can be done, the question arises as to exactly what means of taxation is the most feasible. Most persons are not in favor of any more taxes but when we think that all the funds paid to the government in taxes has been used up for, well, goodness only knows what, we have to hand out a certain amount, no matter what happens, so we might as well give the money to the soldiers as to bureau-ridden politics.

HAD LINGO ALL THEIR OWN

Telephone Operators in the A. E. F. Employed Code That Baffled "Censorics" Listening In.

"Hello, Buckwheat. Now, I don't want Broadway, Blaine Buckwheat. That you, Buckwheat? Well, why in —— don't you answer? George Washington wants to talk to Harry Thaw and too sweet too."

A reviewer gone crazy? Not a bit of it; just the way the A. E. F. telephone operator at some headquarters told another operator at some other headquarters that Gen. So-and-So wanted to talk with Col. Somebody Else. Plain English wouldn't have done at all because the chances were that some Boche who used to drive a brewery wagon on Avenue A was cutting in along the line waiting for an earful on the next American jump-off.

Even with such disguises as the above didn't always work, and the instance is related by Captain Lavine where a number of Cherokees or some other Indian tribe were used as operators and transmitted the messages in their indistinguishable native way and thereby ruined the hearing of four listening Jerries.

The following is a beetling bit of authorship that is typical and just a bit trite at present:

"To the northwest the marines met the Kaiser's best matching forward each Paris to the full flush of victory, and turned them back amazed, stupid, demoralized.

"Quatsch-vetter! What then happened?

"The Americans had happened.

"The push had been reached. The Hun had been stopped. The world was safe again."—Chicago Evening Post.

Draining the Zuyder Zee.

At the inland shipping congress held at Rotterdam recently the drainage of the Zuyder zee formed the most important subject of discussion. It was pointed out that the drainage would make necessary the construction of a number of new canals. One speaker alleged that the building of new villages and factories of the polders should not be left to mere chance. Villages with churches should be built near the canals but industrial works near the dykes. Such an arrangement would prove of advantage to shipping and would prevent any pollution of the polder water. A number of the waterways connecting the Zuyder zee inlets are to be preserved, but whenever polders form a continuation of the existing land new harbors will have to be made.—Scientific American.

Why Should He Be Surprised?

Culture will crop out. A Boston golf player writes to the Outlook telling how his caddie gave him a bit of surprise. The golfer had played his ball into the rough and they had about given it up for lost when suddenly the youngster's eye lit upon it. "Oh he holler, ungrammatically: "I got it, mister?" No this lad. Raising the ball aloft, he exclaimed triumphantly: "Miserable divru—it's found!"—Boston Transcript.

Beavers Satisfied in Captivity.

The colony of beavers at the zoological park of New York, have tunneled under the foundation wall and escaped to the upper reaches of the Bronx river. Once was ignominiously captured under a wash boiler. Many keepers camped on the trail of the others, but the "call of the wild" proved to be too civilized and the beavers returned to their home in captivity and they seemed glad to be home.—Scientific American.

Comparative Solitude.

"Yes, your honor," said the aggrieved woman, as she dabbed her eyes, "he neglected me shamefully. Why, he was never at home."

"And I suppose you had to spend your evenings all by yourself with no companionship whatever?

"Why-w-well," she sobbed, "I had two goldfish."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

NOW WE HAVE "CANARY JAZZ"

Six Thousand Birds, in Hold of Ship, Introduced New Music to New York Dancers.

"Canary jazz" is the latest in syncopated music to be introduced to the feet of dance lovers. It was tried out in the grand ballroom of the steamship George Washington.

The George Washington reached quarantine just after sundown the other night and was compelled to lay at anchor until the next morning, before proceeding to her Hoboken pier. Forced to spend another night at sea, the officers of the George Washington arranged a masked ball for the entertainment of cabin passengers. With Miss Regina Haller, a dramatic soprano from Cleveland, Ohio, who has been singing abroad, Capt. Harold Cunningham led the grand march.

The jazz music from the ship's orchestra disturbed the slumbers of some six thousand canaries in the hold. The birds stood the music for a time and then started warbling themselves. The shrill notes of the yellow-coated songsters became real "raggy," and the musicians in the orchestra ceased their efforts. The dancers continued to glide around the ballroom to the bird music. It proved a great hit—and thus was born the "canary jazz."

Daugherty Won a Dollar.

The members of the President's cabinet are not always dolled up in frock coats and silk hats, and on their dignity. When they get together they are real human and sometimes act like schoolboys.

As they were flocking out of a recent meeting like schoolboys let loose Attorney General Harry Daugherty spied Representative "Nick" Longworth and challenged him to match a dollar. Harry won and brushed aside "Nick's" proposal to accept 90 cents in cash. "Nick, you're a wealthy man and I insist on the whole dollar," said Harry, and went away proudly jingling four quarters.

What Interests Londoners.

From an ancient arch of Old London bridge, built at the end of the Twelfth century, is to spring a new modern building which will tower far above all the London steeples and probably will be the highest building in London, not excepting the monument. Londoners, however, quite characteristically appear to take far more interest in the question of whether that relic of the ever famous and once so popular London bridge, the only remnant discovered such, can be saved, than in the height of the prospective skyscraper.

She Waited in Vain.

"I suppose it was a proud moment in Mrs. Gadder's life when she cast her first vote?"

"It was, indeed," said Mr. Gadder, "but something of a disappointment, too."

"Was her candidate defeated?"

"No, he was elected, but it was several weeks before Mrs. Gadder discovered that it isn't customary for a successful candidate to send a note of thanks for each vote received."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Running Start.

Maurine and Billy are rivals in their school work. But Billy had received much the higher grade on an examination paper. As he turned triumphantly toward the young lady after the results were announced, she gave him what is commonly referred to as "a nasty look."

"Huh," the little red-haired rascal sneered, "I bet mine's an uglier face than you."

"Well, you ought to," she snapped, "look what you've got to start with."

The many houses in Great Britain, writes a correspondent, a glass jar, filled with a yellowish liquid and containing small pieces of white fungus, may be seen. It is loosely covered with a piece of brown paper. This is "vice wine" in the making. The activity of the pieces of fungus rising and falling suggested the busy bee and gave the wine its nickname. Its correct name is "Balm of Gilead," and there is an old superstition that it must not be sold but always passed on as a love gift. Our soldiers, returning from Mesopotamia, brought the balm (which is procured from an Eastern tree) with them. The fungus doubles in bulk with every brew. Balm of Gilead is actually a yellowish, aromatic gum, collected from Arabian and Abyssinian trees. The making of it, having become common knowledge, someone has raised the honey that it produces cancer and other malignant growths. It may, however, be taken in an unfermented state, as it is useful in cases of whooping cough and other ailments. It has always been valued in the East for its exceptional fragrance and supposed medicinal qualities. In fact, the trees from which it comes belong to a family of plants styled "bill bearb". The gum is collected by making incisions in the trunks and upper parts of the trees.

OUR OLD FOLKS.

Old folks, friends, may seem quite pokey,
Sometimes crabbed, sometimes jokey,
Sometimes glad, and sometimes hard to suit;
But if someone tries to sell you
Oil stock, and the old folks tell you
"Do not buy," you'd better listen, and the old folks not dispute.

If some guy comes in and strings you
With the tale of wealth he flings you—
Easy wealth, and easy got, his easy talk sounds mighty good:
Ask the old folks all about it,
If 'tis good they will not flout it
Their advice would be worth while, they'd gladly live the old folks would.

If your days seem dark and dreary;
If you're soul sick, tired and weary,
Grub don't taste good, nothing's right, and everything is slipping back;
Go and get the old folks near you,
They will find a way to cheer you,
You'll be glad you went to see them, old folks know just what you lack.

Old folks know! that's what I'm telling,
It's not plated brick I'm selling
Old folks see the things the young folks cannot see, but some day will;
Young folks have such rock-sure knowledge,
The old folks, though they've seen no college
Have true wisdom, learned by living; learned by going through the mill.

So here's to you, dear old folks cheerful,
And may we never find you tearful;
God grant to you rich blessings, richer than you've known before;
May your days remain unnumbered,
May your joys be not encumbered
By sordid things, and may you know the very best things in life's store.

—Gene Byles.

TELLS STORIES WHILE HIS LEG IS AMPUTATED

Kane, Pa., February 11.—While Dr. Evan O'Neil amputated his right leg at the knee yesterday at the Kane Summit hospital, Friend Fulmer, 77, a civil war veteran, Cooksburg, told the assembled physicians and nurses stories of his experiences as a soldier.

Only local anaesthetic was used, therefore the patient was entirely conscious and watched the operation with great interest.

When asked if he suffered any pain he replied that the "cootios" in Andersonville prison, where he was confined for a long time during the Civil war, caused him more pain and annoyance than the operation. Mr. Fulmer injured his foot last election day while on his way to the polls to cast a straight Republican ballot, he said. Gangrene developed in the foot and the condition grew worse until amputation at the knee was necessary to save the veteran's life. It is believed the patient will recover.

FURTHER AUDITS TO RECOVER OVERPAYMENTS FOR AIRCRAFT

Washington, D. C., February 13. It was learned today from Honorable John H. Bartlett, Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, that the War Department had authorized further audits of contracts for aircraft which were terminated by negotiated agreements during the latter part of 1918 and early in 1919 with a view to the recovery of overpayments estimated at $25,000,000.00.

Mr. Bartlett said that the Civil Service Commission was interested in this matter in connection with the clerical work of the audits. He said that he had been informed by the War Department that three audits recently completed established overpayments for aircrafts totaling $7,871,000.00. He said that informal figures obtained from accounting firms indicate that it would cost the Government a sum close to $1,000,000.00 to complete the additional audits which are contemplated; that, by the use of accountants obtained through the Civil Service Commission's examinations, the three audits completed, totaling a recovery of more than $7,000,000 had cost the Government only $30,000.00 for all expenses of the audits and that the War Department further stated that the additional audits could be performed by civil service employes for less than $150,000.00, as against the $1,000,000 asked by private auditing companies, to recover the estimated overpayments of $25,000,000.00.

Cave-Dwelling Snakes.

Until recent times no reptiles were known to have adapted themselves to existence in the darkness of caverns. Now, however, it is known that in the Malay peninsula a snake, a species of cobitor, inhabits certain caverns, feeding upon the bats.

These cave-dwelling snakes attain a length of between eight and nine feet. Their coloring simulates that of the walls of the caverns. The rock is a yellowish limestone, traversed with blackish veins, and these markings and folds are imitated, reproduced in the snakes, many of which lurk on the ledges in the semi-darkness near the entrances, watching for the bats.

Ancients Had Full Faith in Treatment Now Practiced in the Most Modern Sanitariums.

In a small village in the Adirondacks there is a sanitarium where patients take sun baths. And a high price is charged for the treatment.

Bathing in the sun's rays for health is an ancient ceremony handed down from the earliest ages. Wiseacres in bygone times used to bathe in the sunshine, believing in the great value of light as a destroyer of disease. Light was the secret and universal medicine by which they cured many diseases.

Sunlight is the greatest factor in our planetary existence; if it failed all life would perish. One has only to look at nature for potent examples. In vegetable, animal and human life the influence of sunlight is strongly manifest. Compare the vegetation in the gardens of a back street away from the sunlight with similar growth in the open country. Compare the children of the country with those living down a narrow street of the city slums.

For creating good general health and happiness no medicine is so effective as the direct rays of the sun. A sun bath consists of letting the rays of the sun bathe the skin each day, preferably during the morning. The body is, of course, wholly or partially uncovered.

Marine Phenomenon.

Late one January the steamship Trafalgar, when within ten miles of Wolf rock, off the southmost coast of England, met with a remarkable accident.

A report like that of a cannon was heard, and a large fiery body with a tail 30 or 40 feet long struck the water 20 feet from the vessel. It was accompanied by a loud hissing, and a column of water rose where it struck the sea. Immediately afterward the ship seemed to be on fire, the engine room glowing with a violet light filled with multitudes of sparks. The mate engaged at the wheel suffered a violent shock through the steel rod in his hand. The crew fled to the deck. It was found that all the compasses had been demagnetized, and the ship had much difficulty in making her way to Falmouth. It was probably a strong lightning flash which struck the water, and the subsequent electric phenomena were produced by the dispersal of the charge supplied to the surface of the sea.

"Gibraltar of Canada."

Quebec citadel, sometimes called the "Gibraltar of Canada," is a strong fortification, covering 40 acres of ground, and in its present form it dates from 1828. The more modern fortifications were constructed in 1820-30, subsequently on the lines of the French work of 1620. The citadel has been garrisoned by Canadian soldiers since the withdrawal of British troops in 1871. It is also a parade and drill ground for troops in Canada, surrounded by bastions and ramparts under the walls. Heavy guns are mounted on the ramparts. A large stone building forms the governor general's residence (occasionally occupied by him) in the west, overlooking the river.

A splendid view can be seen from the king's bastion at the northeast angle of the ramparts. The west ramparts overlook the Plains of Abraham.

All the Symptoms.

"Was Dr. Graham in his office when you called?"

"No, he must have been playing golf."

"Are you sure about this?"

"Reasonably sure. The office force seemed to think he wouldn't be back soon. Most of the clerks had their feet up on their desks and three stenographers were glued to telephones."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
